NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

A STRIKE of considerable dimensions is in progress at Johnstown. This would indicate a very quick return to the old conditions.

The new city of Oklahoma is preparing for a big Fourth of July celebration, and has arranged for the running of special trains. It announces that it is prepared to receive 30,000 visitors.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has accepted Henry C. Bowen's invitation to attend the Fourth of July celebration at Woodstock, Conn. This is Mr. Bowen's own affair, and is always attended by distinguished people.

The exact majority against Prohibition and in favor of High License in Pennsylvania was 189,020. Twenty-nine counties voted for Prohibition and thirty-eight for High License. The suffrage amendment is defeated by 235,800 majority. The rural counties voted to preserve the poll tax because it is paid chiefly by the large cities.

Col. W. G. RICE, Gov. Hill's private secretary, has resigned to become a director and officer of the Consolidated Car Heating Company. The effect upon the state administration will be watched with interest. He is believed to have carried a large share of the brains of the executive office, and a fair proportion of whatever integrity it possessed.

A RESIDENT of Seattle offers the city $20,000 with which to build a city hall if the authorities will give the place some other name. The rest of the people of the United States will second the motion. Seattle is the Indian name for "Dry Bones," and that is hardly the name for a town that has under gone cremation. Besides, it is not a nice name to spell or pronounce or write.

WHETHER Wyoming votes Republican or Democratic, she will make a desirable member of the Union. Though her population is smaller than that of the territories admitted by the last Congress, her percentage of illiterates in the adult population, only 2.6, indicates that she has an exceptionally large number of citizens who know what they go to the polls for.

EX-PARSON HOWARD, the head rascal in the recent electric refining sugar swindle in New-York, was yesterday sentenced by Recorder Smyth to nine years and eight months at Sing Sing. The Recorder told him that he was guilty of the most outrageous fraud ever brought to his notice, and that he had in addition uttered a string of perjuries on the witness stand. Howard said the sentence was twice as long as he expected.

THE OREGON Times reports the deaths in that city this week of Dr. John Frank and the widow of Dr. Lucius H. Allen. Dr. Frank was 93 years of age, and Mrs. Allen 91. Dr. Frank's wife, to whom he had been married 64 years, died in the age of 92. Dr. Allen died about a year ago at the age of 92. The remarkable longevity of these people proves the efficiency of the medicines they administered. Dr. Frank was the oldest Odd Fellow in the state.

In Brooklyn last Thursday Alex. McKenna, eleven years old, "worked the growler" all day for some men at work along the canal, and as he carried the beer he drank a part of it. At night he was found unconscious in the street with an empty growler beside him, and was carried to the hospital. Last night he died without recovering consciousness. The men for whom he bought the beer as well as those who sold it to him are to be put upon the rack of the civil damages law.

How Prohibition prohibited in Rhode Island appears from a census of government liquor licenses taken in Woonsocket by the Reporter of that city. Woonsocket has 12,000 inhabitants, and the number of dealers who took out federal licenses last year is 127, or one to about every 100 of the population. The liquor trade must have been very indifferent to its own interest in refusing to rally for the preservation of a law that gave it such immunity as the amendment just discarded.

Mrs. HAYES, wife of the ex-President, was stricken with apoplexy yesterday at her home in Fremont, Ohio, and rendered unconscious. She is about fifty-seven years old. Of her eight children, five sons and one daughter are living. Mrs. Hayes resided at the White House for four years with much dignity and noted hospitality, though her tastes were strongly domestic. Mrs. Hayes is one of the nine ex-mistresses of the White House who survive, the others being Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Johnson (Harriet Lane), Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. McElroy, Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland. There are only two ex-Presidents.

In February Mrs. Langtry, the "Jersey Lily," employed Monsieur Broche to cater for her table for $15 a day. He served just a week and then threw up his contract. Then he brought suit, and in court yesterday testified that the Lily's orders for meat alone amounted to $28 more than the sum he was to receive. It was shown that the meat and some other extras were ordered by Fredie Gebhard. Broche thereupon withdrew his claim of $113 for the extras, and was awarded judgment for $107.10, being the amount of his contract with interest. He now proposes to sue Gebhard for the extras. Mrs. Langtry is "English you know," and has the true John Bull appetite for roast beef and plum pudding.

The striking miners in the Braidwood coal region, Illinois, are actually starving to death along with their wives and children. The mines are owned by a company which has monopolized the coal section, and has steadily cut down wages since 1870. The miners have frequently struck against reduction, and every strike brought a fresh influx of cheap labor from Europe. Now the supply of labor largely exceeds the demand, and whether the mines are operated or not, a part of the miners must starve or obtain other employment. This condition is partly the fault of Congress in failing to pass a bill to regulate immigration and limit it to the actual labor needs of the country.

Young Man who Saw Contents of Trunk Thrown into the Catch Basin.

CHICAGO, June 22.—George E. Brooks, a news agent running on one of the railroads coming in at the Union Depot, says that on the night of May 4, when Dr. Cronin was murdered he was driving in Lake View with his sweetheart, and happening along Ashland-avenue he saw three men loading a trunk into a wagon at the Carlson cottage. About half an hour later he saw the same men dumping the contents of the trunk into the catch-basin in which the body was found. He saw the men distinctly, and will be able to identify them. His companion, too, will be able to identify them. He is ready to produce the young woman as soon as the authorities want her. Brooks' explanation of his fare to speak before the following officers: Supreme Master Workman, W. R. Graham, Cedar Falls, Ia.; Supreme Foreman, W. Warner Wilson, Detroit; Supreme Overseer, J. W. Kinsey, Helena, Mont.; Supreme Recorder, M. W. Sackett, Meville, Pa.; Supreme Receiver, John J. Acker, Albany, N. Y.; Supreme Guide, L. P. Young, Jr., Lexington, Ky.; Supreme Watchman, W. M. ## NEW TERROR AT JOHNSTOWN, PENN.

Fetid Water Poisons the Arms of Laborers—All of 10,000 Persons Perished.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 22.—August Bumgardner, a resident of Johnstown, and a foreign laborer, both employed in clearing up the wreckage near the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge, are reported dangerously ill with blood poisoning in their arms. The sun blistered their bare arms, and the fetid water poisoned them. The arms of both men are swollen out of all proportion, and the physicians express little hope of the recovery of either. The foreign laborer was sent to a Pittsburgh hospital, and Bumgardner is at his home. Two new cases of typhoid fever were reported among the workmen this morning. All the local physicians met at the Bedford-Street Hospital last night. They represented all parts of the stricken city and discussed the calamity, all joined in the conclusion that not less than 10,000 people were lost in the flood. On account of the general knowledge of the people possessed by the physicians, the estimate is looked upon as reliable. Up to 10 o'clock this morning 11 bodies had been recovered. Among those found were James Mertha, wife and three children. The building committee this morning commenced the construction of 50 business houses on the public square.

MORE HAVOC WROUGHT IN THE WEST.

Electric Storms and Cyclones in the States City and of Illinois and Indiana.

DANVILLE, Ills., June 22.—The most severe electric storm of the season was experienced here Thursday night. The house of Frederick Magnus was struck by a bolt of lightning, which fired the building. Mr. Magnus was stunned, and it required quick work for Mr. Magnus to save her and his two sleeping children. The residence of Joseph Laird was also struck and nearly demolished all the family receiving severe shocks. Another bolt killed several cows.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., June 22.—A cyclone struck the Godfrey Reserve yesterday morning. Shull & Small's barn, the largest in the County, was demolished. Several orchards and $10,000 worth of timber were destroyed. A fearful wind and rain storm followed the cyclone.

VANDALIA, Ills., June 22.—During a thunder storm Thursday evening, William Stock, a carpenter, was struck by lightning and killed.

The Railroad Company has offered to erect an amphitheatre on the ground to seat 2,000 people. The people of St. Tammany agree that there shall be no other but a fair fight, a fair fight, and the best man to win.

HEAVY FLOOD IN THE RED RIVER.

A Woman and Her Seven Children Drowned in the Raging Waters.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 22.—Captain Faulkbury, Deputy United States Marshal, states that on his trip to Conway and Van-Buren counties, a few days ago, he learned that during a heavy rain storm in that section last Saturday night an old man named Emerson lost his wife and seven children in a flood. There had been a tremendous rain near Clinton upon the Upper Red River, and it was near that place that the distressing scene took place. Emerson was with his family in his house at night when the storm was raging. For an hour's time the water flooded his house, and fearing danger inside, he gathered two of his children in his arms and made for the door to escape. As the door opened a huge log dashed in the entrance and knocked the little ones from his arms. They fell at his feet into the swift current and were lost. He then took up two more, and succeeded in getting out with them safely, telling his wife to follow with the others, but in attempting to escape in the same manner, he and his mother, with the two children in her arms, and three clinging to her dress, were carried down with the flood and drowned. The father and two children, the only ones left in a family of 11, escaped. The night was dark, and the father with the two children stood near the door, the father clinging to a tree for several hours, and when the waters subsided in the morning a search was made and the dead bodies of the mother and seven children were discovered scattered here and there for a considerable distance, the clothing having caught in underbrush and the bodies having been held fast. Two of the bodies were found in the garden lot where they had been carried by the water. Captain Faulkbury saw a neighbor last Wednesday who said he had assisted in burying the family next day. He was told it was the heaviest storm that had ever visited that section of the State.

Meeting of Two Grand Bodies.

Young, Jr., Lexington, Ky.; Supreme Watchman, W. M. Butts, Baltimore, Md.; Supreme Grand Secretary, Grand Executive Committee, J. T. Connors, Albany, N. Y., for three years; T. E. Smith, New-Brunswick, Ont., three years; F. H. Collins, Boston, two years. Grand Insurance Committee, A. D. Thurston, W. F. Doran and J. J. McElrath.

Reduction in Iron Rates.

CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—Rates on iron from Cleveland to the East were reduced again yesterday in proportion to the cut from Youngstown and the Mahoning Valley. The rate on pig iron to New-York goes down from $3.50 to $2.80 for car lots. On manufactured iron the reduction is from 17 1/2 cents to 14 cents on car lots and from 21 1/2 to 17 cents on less than car lots.

PRESIDENT AND FAMILY AT CAPE MAY.

The Place Decried in Bunting in Honor of Harrison's Arrival.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 22.—Cape May is beautiful to-day in its elaborate display of bunting in honor of the presence of the President of the United States. About 10 o'clock this morning General Sewall secured a handsome pair of blacks and a drag and drove over to Cape May Point, followed by his son, George, driving a beautiful bay pony to a dog cart, according to arrangements made with the President and Mr. Wanamaker. Halting before the Wanamaker cottage the President and Mrs. Harrison with Baby McKee took seats in the cart, while Mr. Wanamaker and the baby's nurse were given seats in the drag. General Sewall held the line and led the way to Cape May, where the nurse remained at the Sewall cottage with Mrs. Harrison, while the Postmaster General and the President took a spin up the beach drive and through the town. The sight of General Sewall at Cape May gave the people the belief that the President must be one of the party, and thus many caught a view of him as he passed. Baby McKee sat between Grandpa Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker, closely held by the President. Afterward the festive party were out, the President and Mrs. Harrison occupying the cart. An occasional halt was made at the cottages of some of General Sewall's friends. Lunch was served at the Sewall cottage, after which the distinguished guests returned to Cape May Point for an afternoon's quiet rest.

KATRINA WON TO-DAY'S YACHT RACE.

It is Said to Have Been One of the Finest Contests Ever Sailed.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., June 22.—The yachts Katrina and Titania started in the last of their series of match races this morning. A piping breeze was blowing out of the north-west, insuring a speedy and lively race. The start was made at 11:04:45, the Katrina going over the line first, and the Titania following at 11:05:15. The race down the Staten Island shore was a grand one. The Titania gradually overhauled and passed the Katrina to windward. Both yachts were going at tremendous speed, and tearing through the choppy waves like a pair of steamboats. Before reaching the buoy on the south-east spit the Katrina gained on the Titania, blanketed and passed it. The time at Buoy 5 was Katrina, 12:42:30; Titania, 12:43:00. Katrina sailed on the run out to the lightship, and the time that separated them at buoy 5, 15 seconds, was exactly the time between them at the turning mark. Katrina turned at 12:55:10; Titania at 12:55:25. Both yachts trimmed sheets then and sailed on to the starboard tack toward the Highlands. The Katrina won one of the grandest races ever sailed in the New-York harbor. Its time at the finish was 2:54:48; Titania, 2:55:28.

BY THE COLLAPSE OF AN OLD HOUSE.

Two Persons Killed, and Several Others Injured While Frequenting Firewood.

BOSTON, June 22.—A two-story wooden house on Fifth-Street, Place, South Boston, collapsed this morning, burying several persons in the ruins. Anna Mullen, aged 10, and Thomas Flaherty, aged 13, were taken out dead. Mrs. Hannah Mullen, aged 32, had a leg broken, and Edward Nolan, aged 13, was severely injured internally. Several other persons were hurt, but not seriously. The house had been condemned and was vacant. The people of the neighborhood have been in the habit of going there for firewood and had torn away about all the underpinning. One of the boys was chopping away a portion of a beam when the house fell.

Set Fire to a Barn After Stealing a Dress, in Shawangunk.

On Thursday night the barn of Daniel Green in the town of Shawangunk, Ulster County, was destroyed by fire. It was found that a girl named Miller, about 12 years old, had set it on fire. She had worked for Mr. Green. She expected Mrs. Green to give her a new dress. Not receiving the garment as soon as she wished, she stole it and then set the barn on fire. The barn was insured. The girl was arrested and is now in the County Jail in this City.

Howard said the sentence was twice as long as he expected.

THE Owego Times reports the deaths in that city this week of Dr. John Frank and the widow of Dr. Lucius H. Allen. Dr. Frank was 93 years of age, and Mrs. Allen 91. Dr. Frank's wife, to whom he had been married 64 years, died in 1887. Dr. Allen died about a year ago at the age of 92. The remarkable longevity of these people proves the efficacy of the medicines they administered. Dr. Frank was the oldest Odd Fellow in the state.

In Brooklyn last Thursday Alex. McKenna, eleven years old, "worked the growler" all day for some men at work along the canal, and as he carried the beer he drank a part of it. At night he was found unconscious in the street with an empty growler beside him, and was carried to the hospital. Last night he died without recovering consciousness. The men for whom he bought the beer as well as those who sold it to him are to be put upon the rack of the civil damages law.

How Prohibition prohibited in Rhode Island appears from a census of government liquor licenses taken in Woonsocket by the Reporter of that city. Woonsocket has 12,000 inhabitants, and the number of dealers who took out federal licenses last year is 127, or one to about every 100 of the population. The liquor trade must have been very different to its own interest in refusing to rally for the preservation of a law that gave it such immunity as the amendment just discarded.

Mrs. HAYES, wife of the ex-President, was stricken with apoplexy yesterday at her home in Fremont, Ohio, and rendered unconscious. She is about fifty-seven years old. Of her eight children, five sons and one daughter are living. Mrs. Hayes presided at the White House for four years with much dignity and noted hospitality, though her tastes were strongly domestic. Mrs. Hayes is one of the nine ex-mistresses of the White House who survive, the others being Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Johnson (Harriet Lane), Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. McKim, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Elizabeth Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland. There are only two ex-Presidents.

In February Mrs. Langtry, the "Jersey Lily," employed Monsieur Broche to cater for her table for $15 a day. He served just a week and then threw up his contract. Then he brought suit, and in court yesterday testified that the Lily's orders for meat alone amounted to $28 more than the sum he was to receive. It was shown that the meat and some other extras were ordered by Freddie Gekhard. Broche thereupon withdrew his claim of $113 for the extras, and was awarded judgment for $107.10, being the amount of his contract with interest. He now proposes to sue Gekhard for the extras. Mrs. Langtry is "English you know," and has the true John Bull appetite for roast beef and plum pudding.

THE striking miners in the Braidwood coal region, Illinois, are actually starving to death along with their wives and children. The mines are owned by a company which has monopolized the coal section, and has steadily cut down wages since 1870. The miners have frequently struck against reduction, and every strike brought a fresh influx of cheap labor from Europe. Now the supply of labor largely exceeds the demand, and whether the mines are operated or not, a part of the miners must starve or obtain other employment. This condition is partly the fault of Congress in failing to pass a bill to regulate immigration and limit it to the actual labor needs of the country.

Young Man who Saw Contents of Trunk Thrown Into the Catch Basin.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, June 22.—George E. Brooks, a news agent running on one of the railroads coming in at the Union Depot, says that on the night of May 4, when Dr. Cronin was murdered he was driving in Lake View with his sweetheart, and happening along Ashland-avenue he saw three men loading a trunk into a wagon at the Carlson cottage. About half an hour later he saw the same men dumping the contents of the trunk into the catch-basin in which the body was found. He saw the men distinctly, and will be able to identify them. His companion, too, will be able to identify them. He is ready to produce the young woman as soon as the authorities want her. Brooks' explanation of his failure to speak before is that he was afraid of losing his life, as he believed the men connected in the murder were so desperate they would kill any one whom they thought might be a witness against them. He said the knowledge he possessed had so weighed on his mind that he could not keep to himself any longer, and believing it was a duty he owed to himself and the community he decided to tell all he knew. He first stipulated that he should be given protection. Brooks told his story to Chief Hubbard with whom he was closeted for over two hours last night. He described the men whom he saw, and the description of one is said to fit Burke, the Winnipeg prisoner.

NEW TERROR AT JOHNSTOWN, PENN.

Fetid Water Poisons the Arms of Laborers—All of 10,000 Persons Perished.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 22.—August Bumgardner, a resident of Johnstown, and a foreign laborer, both employed in clearing up the wreckage near the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge, reported dangerously ill with blood poisoning in their arms. The sun blistered their bare arms, and the fetid water poisoned them. The arms of both men are swollen out of all proportion, and the physicians express little hope of the recovery of either. The foreign laborer was sent to a Pittsburgh hospital, and Bumgardner is at his home. Two new cases of typhoid fever were reported among the workmen this morning.

All the local physicians met at the Bedford-Street Hospital last night. They represented all parts of the stricken city, and after discussing the case, all joined in the conclusion that not less than 10,000 people were lost in the flood. On account of the general knowledge of the people possessed by the physicians, the estimate is looked upon as reliable.

Up to 10 o'clock this morning 11 bodies had been recovered. Among the dead were James Mertha, wife and three children. The building committee this morning commenced the construction of 50 business houses on the public square.

HEAVY FLOOD IN THE RED RIVER.

A Woman and Her Seven Children Drowned in the Ragging Waters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 22.—Captain Faulkbury, Deputy United States Marshal, states that on his trip to Conway and Van Buren counties, a few days ago, he learned that during a heavy rain storm in that section last Saturday night an old man named Emmerson lost his wife and seven children in a flood. There had been a tremendous rain near Clinton upon the Upper Red River, and it was near that place that the distressing scene took place. Emmerson was with his family in his house at night when the storm was raging. After an hour's rain the water flooded his house, and fearing danger inside, he gathered two of his children in his arms and made for the door to escape. As the door opened a huge log dashed in the entrance and knocked the little ones from his arms. They fell at his feet into the swift current and were lost. He then took up two more, and succeeded in getting out with them, but he was unable to follow with the others, but in attempting to escape in the same manner, the mother, with the two children in her arms, was carried down with the flood and drowned. The father and two children, the only ones left in a family of 11, escaped. The night was dark, and the father with the two children stood in water above the waist clinging to a tree for several hours, and when the waters subsided in the morning a search was made and the dead bodies of the mother and seven children were discovered scattered here and there for a considerable distance, the clothing having caught in underbrush and the bodies having been held fast. Two of the bodies were found in the garden lot where they had been carried by the water. Captain Faulkbury saw a negro woman, Wednesday, who said she had assisted in burying the whole family next day. He was told that she was the heaviest storm that had ever visited that section of the State.

PRESIDENT AND FAMILY AT CAPE MAY.

The Place Decried in Bunting in Honor of Harrison's Arrival.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 22.—Cape May is holiday today in its elaborate display of bunting in honor of the presence of the President of the United States. About 10 o'clock this morning General Sewall secured a handsome pair of black and red and drove over to Cape May Point, followed by his son, George, driving a beautiful bay pony to a dog cart, according to arrangements made with the President and Mr. Wanamaker. Halting before the Wanamaker cottage, the President and Mrs. Harrison with Baby McKee took seats in the cart, while Mr. Wanamaker and the baby's nurse were given seats in the dog cart. General Sewall held the lines and led the way to Cape May, where the nurse remained at the Sewell cottage with Mrs. Harrison, while the Postmaster General and the President took a spin up the beach drive and through the town. The sight of General Sewall at once gave the cue to the people that the President must be one of the party, and thus many caught a view of him as he passed. Baby McKee sat between Grandpa Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker, close held by the President. Afterward the entire party were out, the President and Mrs. Harrison occupying the cart. An occasional halt was made at the cottages of some of General Sewall's friends. Lunch was served at the Sewell cottage, after which the distinguished guests returned to Cape May Point for an afternoon's quiet rest.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

A STRIKE of considerable dimensions is in progress at Johnstown. This would indicate a very quick return to the old conditions.

The new city of Oklahoma is preparing for a big Fourth of July celebration, and has arranged for the running of special trains. It announces that it is prepared to receive 30,000 visitors.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has accepted Henry C. Bowen's invitation to attend the Fourth of July celebration at Woodstock, Conn. This is Mr. Bowen's own affair, and is at all times attended by distinguished people.

The exact majority against Prohibition and in favor of High License in Pennsylvania was 189,020. Twenty-nine counties voted for Prohibition and thirty-eight for High License. The suffrage amendment is defeated by 235,800 majority. The rural counties voted to preserve the poll tax because it is paid chiefly by the large cities.

Cot. W. G. RICE, Gov. Hill's private secretary, has resigned to become a director and officer of the Consolidated Car Heating Company. The effect upon the state administration will be watched with interest. He is believed to have carried a large share of the brains of the executive office, and a fair proportion of whatever integrity it possessed.

A RESIDENT of Seattle offers the city $20,000 with which to build a city hall if the authorities will give the place some other name. The rest of the people of the United States will second the motion. Seattle is the Indian name for "Dry Bones," and that is hardly the name for a town that has under gone cremation. Besides, it is not a nice name to spell or pronounce or write.

WHETHER Wyoming votes Republican or Democratic, she will make a desirable member of the Union. Though her population is smaller than that of the territories admitted by the last Congress, her percentage of illiterates in the adult population only 2.6, indicates that she has an exceptionally large number of citizens who know what they go to the polls for.

EX-PARSON HOWARD, the head rascal in the recent electric refining sugar scandal in New York, was yesterday sentenced by Recorder Smyth to nine years and eight months at Sing Sing. The Recorder told him that he was guilty of the most outrageous fraud ever brought to his notice, and that he had in addition uttered a string of perjuries on the witness stand. ## HEAVY FLOOD IN THE RED RIVER.

A Woman and Her Seven Children Drowned in the Ragging Waters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 22.—Captain Faulkner, Deputy United States Marshal, states that on his trip to Conway and Van Buren counties, a few days ago, he learned that during a heavy rain storm in that section last Saturday night an old man named Emmerson lost his wife and seven children in a flood. There had been a tremendous rain near Clinton upon the Upper Red River, and it was near that place that the distressing scene took place. Emmerson was with his family in his house, when the flood came, and he was rushing to escape. He and his wife followed with the others, but in attempting to escape in the same manner, the mother, with the two children in her arms and three clinging to her dress, was carried down with the flood and drowned. The father and two children, the only ones left in a family of 11, escaped. The night was dark, and the father with the two children stood in water above the waist clinging to a tree for several hours, and when the waters subsided in the morning a search was made and the dead bodies of the mother and seven children were discovered scattered here and there for considerable distance. The clothing having caught in underbrush and the bodies having been held fast. Two of the bodies were found in the garden lot where they had been carried by the water. Captain Faulkner saw a neighbor last Wednesday who said he had assisted in burying the whole family next day. He was told it was the heaviest storm that had ever visited that section of the State.

PRESIDENT AND FAMILY AT CAPE MAY.

The Place Decked in Bunting in Honor of Harrison's Arrival.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 22.—Cape May is beautiful to-day in its elaborate display of bunting in honor of the presence of the President of the United States. About 10 o'clock this morning General Sewell secured a handsome pair of blacks and a drug and drove over to Cape May Point, followed by his George, driving a beautiful bay pony to a dog cart, according to arrangements made with the President and Mr. Wanamaker. Halting before the Wanamaker cottage the President and Mrs. Harrison with Baby McKee took seats in the cart, while Mr. Wanamaker and the lady's nurse went to the drug. General Sewell held the lines and led the way to Cape May, where the nurse remained at the Sewell cottage with Mrs. Harrison, while the Postmaster General and the President took a spin up the beach drive and through the town. The sight of General Sewell at once gave the cue to the people that the President must be one of the party, and thus many caught a view of him as he passed. Baby McKee sat between Grandpa Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker, closely held by the President. Afterward the entire party were out, the President and Mrs. Harrison occupying the cart. An occasional halt was made at the cottages of one of General Sewell's friends. Lunch was served at the Sewell cottage, after which the distinguished guests returned to Cape May Point for an afternoon's quiet rest.

KATRINA WON TO-DAY'S YACHT RACE.

It is Said to Have Been One of the Finest Contests Ever Sailed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., June 22.—The yachts Katrina and Titania started in the last of their series of match races this morning. A piping breeze was blowing out of the north-west, insuring a speedy and lively race. The start was made at 11:04:45, the Katrina going over the line first, and the Titania following at 11:05:15. The race down the Staten Island shore was a grand one. The Titania gradually overhauled and passed the Katrina to windward. Both yachts were going at tremendous speed, and tearing through the choppy waves like a pair of steamboats. Before reaching the buoy on the south-east spit the Katrina gained on the Titania, blanketed her, and finally, at the turning mark, Katrina turned at 12:55:10; Titania at 12:55:25. Both yachts trimmed sheets and stood in on the starboard tack to ward the Hahona buoy. The Katrina won one of the grandest races ever sailed in the New York harbor. Its time at the finish was 2:54:48; Titania, 2:55:28.

The people of the neighborhood have been in the habit of going there for firewood and had torn away about all the underpinning. One of the boys was chopping away a portion of a beam when the house fell.

SIMON CAMERON.

There is little doubt that the venerable Simon Cameron has received his death stroke, and it is not unlikely that the dispatches of this afternoon will announce his demise. Paralysis does not always kill suddenly, but in his case it has attacked a form badly weakened and debilitated by age and the labors of a wonderfully active and vigorous life. The scripture simile, "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season," has a beautiful application to the passing away of Simon Cameron.

Mr. Cameron was born at Lancaster, Pa., March 8, 1790. Left an orphan at an early age, he began life as a printer's apprentice at the age of nine years. After working as a journeyman in Lancaster, Harrisburg and Washington, he became in 1820 the owner of a small paper at Doylestown, Pa. Two years later he purchased a larger establishment in Harrisburg. He accumulated wealth rapidly and in a few years became largely interested in banking and railroad building in his section of the state. His first office was that of Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. In 1845 he was elected a United States Senator to fill a vacancy, serving till 1849. At this time he was a Democrat. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise in 1854 made him a Republican, and in 1857 he was returned to the Senate by that party for the full term of six years. At the beginning of the secession agitation he was so earnest an advocate of peace that his loyalty was mistakenly suspected. He was a candidate for President at the convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln, and also received several votes for Vice President. Mr. Lincoln called him to his first Cabinet as Secretary of War. In this position he advocated more aggressive war measures than Mr. Lincoln was prepared to carry out, and gave the Generals in the field instructions to employ the fugitive slaves under such organizations and in such occupations as exigencies may suggest or require. In the original draft of his report to Congress, in December, 1861, he advocated the arming of the slaves, but this was modified on consultation with the Cabinet. In January, 1862, Mr. Cameron resigned from the Cabinet, and was immediately appointed Minister to Russia. In this position he was of great service in cementing the friendship between that country and our government which served as a check upon the desires of other European powers to use their influence adversely to the Union cause. In November, 1862, he resigned the Russian mission and returned home. In 1867 he was again elected to the Senate, and re-elected in 1873. On the retirement of Senator Sumner from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in 1872 he was selected to succeed him. In 1877 he retired permanently from the Senate by voluntary resignation, and was succeeded by his son John Donald Cameron, who had previously served a year in President Grant's Cabinet as Secretary of War. Since his retirement he has not been active in politics, but his advice has been sought upon every important question of national and state concern. As a leader of men he has had few equals in American politics.

A PROBABLE REPUBLICAN GAIN.
There is strong ground for the hope that the third Louisiana district, whose Representative in Congress, Mr. Gay, died recently, will send a Republican to Washington to take his place. The district is good for 3,000 Republican majority in any honest election, but Mr. Gay managed to succeed ex-Gov. Kellogg and to keep the place for three successive terms by the suppression of the negro vote. The same tactics are threatened again. The Democrats openly boast that if the Republicans put up a candidate he will be beaten, if all the negroes in the district have to be influenced "not to show up on election day." Chairman Quay of the Republican National Committee has heard of this boast, and there will be men on the ground to see that the negroes are not influenced. The news of the boast has been communicated to the Republican administration at Washington, and it has also indicated a determination to see a fair election, as it has the right to do, since the choice of a Representative in Congress is a national affair. And Gov. Nichols is likely to undertake the protection of the voters, rather than have his state dishonored by crimes that call for federal interference.

A REPUBLICAN GAIN IN LOUISIANA.
A Republican gain in Louisiana will be of great value in strengthening the majority in the House, and no honorable and lawful effort will be spared for its accomplishment. At present there are 164 Republicans and 158 Democrats on the roll of the House, with two seats in West Virginia to be decided and one vacancy. A gain in Louisiana will raise the Republican majority to seven, and the awarding of the two elections in dispute in West Virginia to Republicans will raise this majority to nine. This will answer for a beginning. The decision of several contested cases will double the majority later.

A DEMOCRATIC GRAND JURY.
A grand jury of Democrats, packed for the occasion, has been doing service in Albany county. Before it were brought the rascals who manipulated the election returns in Watervliet last April, when D. Cady Herick, representing Cleveland, and Edward Murphy, representing Hill, contended for success in a Republican district. To make sure of victory Mr. Herick caused the Chief of the Albany police, a Democrat and a plant tool of the Cleveland leader, to swear in a squad of officers as Deputy Sheriffs, and these men went out of the city to commit a felony. They forced their way into the polling place and turned out the Republican Inspectors, clerks and watchers. After this was done they took control of the canvass, and counted in their candidate.

This was a crime that should, under our laws, send every participant to state prison. Confident of the justice of their cause, the Republicans instituted criminal proceedings against them. The evidence of the crime was complete against the Albany officer Cleary and the Democratic Inspectors McMahon and Sullivan. They had returned only 87 votes as cast for Gove, the Republican candidate for Supervisor, and the prosecution produced 207 men who swore that they voted for Gove. The disfranchisement of 120 citizens lawfully entitled to vote may be looked upon as an enormous crime by the people in general, but the Democratic grand jury did not so consider it. Indeed, they regarded it as no crime at all. Yesterday they made their presentment of the case before Justices Nott, Clough and Powers, declaring that they had found no indictment against these men. They were discharged with the thanks of the court, which also appears to be a part of the Herick machine. And the right of the Herick gang to disfranchise anybody and everybody who does not vote at its dictation appears to be established beyond further dispute in Albany county.

What do the people propose to do about it? Simply nothing, for the reason that they can do nothing. They may rise in their wrath and resolve to overthrow the ring by an overwhelming majority, but the Democratic Inspectors will be there, backed by a Democratic police, and the counting of the vote will leave the Democrats on top again. So it will go on from year to year. If the voters of Albany do not yet know how helpless they are, and how utterly impotent is the will of the majority, then they are slow to learn. Reform can only come through the enactment of better election laws for the state. The Saxton ballot bill, which the Governor vetoed, would have made a repetition of this crime impossible. The gubernatorial election of 1891 will probably "remove" Hill, and until that time the people must wait with what patience they can, unless in the meantime they combine to elect a Legislature which shall have the numbers and the courage to pass bills over his vetoes.

PUBLIC OPINION.
A Holyoke woman got frightened by an approaching thunder storm and went over to a neighbor's for company. She was hardly seated before she was struck dead by lightning. Moral: If lightning wants you it will find you wherever you may hide. If it doesn't want you, you couldn't get struck if you tried.—Buffalo Express.

A young lady of Muskegon, Mich., has just regained her hearing, which she lost 20 years ago. She has missed a great many things which the rest of us have been compelled to listen to, not the least of which were "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "When the Robins Nest Again," "Father's Teeth Are Fast Decaying," "White Wings," "Sister Rides a Bicycle Now."—Chicago Times.

The trouble in Prohibition states is not the lack of supply or the means to get at it, but the feeling of the drinker that he is a sneak and the horrible quality of the poison.—Judge.

It appears that Governor Hill signed a bill on June 6 directing the wages of laborers employed by the state at two dollars a day, and no less. Well, it is a bad bill all the same, without justification in common sense or in public policy; and the Legislature passed it merely to put the Governor in a hole. We should have thought better of him if he had vetoed it.—New York Sun, "Hill" Democrat.

Confession may be "good for the soul," but it does not appear to bring the murderers of Cronin to justice.—Utica Observer.

And now Private Secretary Halford is at ticked because he is said to have secured a position as doorkeeper in the Treasury Department for the palace-car porter who saved the lives of his wife and children during the Johnstown floods. Sensible men will be apt to conclude that a man who would risk his own life for the sake of women and children would be likely to make a very faithful doorkeeper, and that Mr. Halford did the Treasury Department a good turn.—New York Tribune.

ERASED WITH ACIDS.
How the Governor Voted Himself—Wanted, a Big Surplus.
(From the Albany Journal.)
Governor Hill appended his signature to the Capitol appropriation bill and the female factory inspector bill, June 15, as announced in the Journal of yesterday. It will thus be seen that the Governor approved of these two measures on what was really the last day permitted him to dispose of bills left in his hands by the legislature. He had nearly a month in which to consider their merits and demerits, and had come to the conclusion that they ought to become laws. His discovery that they were faulty, and ill-considered legislation was made at the eleventh hour and in five minutes. It is for this reason that the Governor that Sunday intervened in which he might have time to frame his suddenly inspired objections.

The explanation really is very simple. The female factory inspector bill would have provided for the proper protection of the female labor in the manufacturing of the state, which is large and growing and is at present subject to glaring impositions and abuses. But female inspectors would attend to their duties and would not be able to control delegates and conventions and work at the polls for D. B. Hill.

He was the Governor's policy of "economy" that led to the slaughter of the Capitol bill. He was endeavoring to pile up a surplus in the treasury collected out of the people this year, which will be "reduced" without figuring in next year's tax, provided he can catch enough gudgeons with the economy dodge to secure a Hill majority in the next legislature. For this reason the roof may continue to leak and ruin the interior of the big building. Broken sewer pipes and drains may continue to fill the streets with sewer gas and imperil the health and lives of its occupants; the executive chamber is on the corner of the building where air and sunlight can be admitted.

These are the reasons why the gubernatorial signatures of last Saturday were erased with acids before the bill was filed with the Secretary of State on Monday.

HILL'S ECONOMY.
He Has Put His Individual Judgment Against that of Hundreds of Wiser and Better Men.
(From the Rochester Herald, Ind.)
One of the sufferers from the attack of acute veto mania that recently seized Mr. Hill is the state industrial school of Rochester. The bill referred to above contained an item appropriating $47,000 for asphalt pavement, furniture, electric lights and paint-work in that institution. All the Governor conceded to say in justification of his course in vetoing this appropriation in a lump with several others in similar institutions elsewhere is this:

These several items are objected to and not approved for the reason that it is not deemed expedient to make the proposed expenditures at the present time.

Who is it that deems it inexpedient? Not the boards of managers of the several institutions, who are supposed to know better than anybody at Albany what is needed. Not the two houses of the legislature whose wisdom and judgment may be supposed to equal that of any one man in the state government. Not these, for they have severally approved the items. But it is one man, David B. Hill, who thus sets his individual judgment against the aggregate judgment of hundreds of men, any one of whom is his equal in sagacity and his superior in character and public spirit.

SIMON CAMERON.

There is little doubt that the venerable Simon Cameron has received his death stroke, and it is not unlikely that the dispatches of this afternoon will announce his demise. Paralysis does not always kill suddenly, but in his case it has attacked a form badly weakened and debilitated with age and the labors of a wonderfully active and vigorous life. The scripture smile, "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season," has a beautiful application to the passing away of Simon Cameron.

Mr. Cameron was born at Lancaster, Pa., March 8, 1799. Left an orphan at an early age, he began life as a printer's apprentice at the age of nine years. After working as a journeyman in Lancaster, Harrisburg and Washington, he became in 1820 the owner of a small paper at Doylestown, Pa. Two years later he purchased a larger establishment in Harrisburg. He accumulated wealth rapidly and in a few years became largely interested in banking and railroad building in his section of the state. His first office was that of Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. In 1845 he was elected a United States Senator to fill a vacancy, serving till 1849. At this time he was a Democrat. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise in 1854 made him a Republican, and in 1857 he was returned to the Senate by that party for the full term of six years. At the beginning of the secession agitation he was so earnest an advocate of peace that his loyalty was mistakenly suspected. He was a candidate for President at the convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln, and also received several votes for Vice President. Mr. Lincoln called him to his first Cabinet as Secretary of War.

In this position he advocated more aggressive war measures than Mr. Lincoln was prepared to carry out, and gave the Generals in the field instructions to employ the fugitive slaves under such organizations and in such occupations as exigencies may suggest or require. In the original draft of his report to Congress, in December, 1861, he advocated the arming of the slaves, but this was modified on consultation with the Cabinet. In January, 1862, Mr. Cameron resigned from the Cabinet, and was immediately appointed Minister to Russia. In this position he was of great service in cementing the friendship between that country and our government which served as a check upon the desires of other European powers to use their influence adversely to the Union cause. In November, 1862, he resigned the Russian mission and returned home. In 1867 he was again elected to the Senate, and re-elected in 1873. On the retirement of Senator Sumner from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in 1872 he was selected to succeed him. In 1875 he retired permanently from the Senate by voluntary resignation, and was succeeded by his son John Donald Cameron, who had previously served a year in President Grant's Cabinet as Secretary of War. Since his retirement he has not been active in politics, but his advice has been sought upon every important question of national and state concern. As a leader of men he has had few equals in American politics.

A PROBABLE REPUBLICAN GAIN.
There is strong ground for the hope that the third Louisiana district, whose Representative in Congress, Mr. Gay, died recently, will send a Republican to Washington to take his place. The district is good for 5,000 Republican majority in any honest election, but Mr. Gay managed to succeed ex-Gov. Kellogg and to keep the place for three successive terms by the suppression of the negro vote. The same tactics are threatened again. The Democrats openly boast that if the Republicans put up a candidate he will be beaten, if all the negroes in the district have to be influenced "not to show up on election day." Chairman Quay of the Republican National Committee has heard of this boast, and there will be men on the ground to see that the negroes are not influenced. The news of the boast has been communicated to the Republican administration at Washington, and it has also indicated a determination to see a fair election, as it has the right to do, since the election of a Representative in Congress is a national affair. And Gov. Nichols is likely to undertake the protection of the negroes, rather than have his state dishonored by crimes that call for federal interference.

A Republican gain in Louisiana will be of great value in strengthening the majority in the House, and no honorable and lawful effort will be spared for its accomplishment. At present there are 164 Republicans and 158 Democrats on the roll of the House, with two seats in West Virginia to be decided, and one vacancy. A gain in Louisiana will raise the Republican majority to seven, and the awarding of the two elections in dispute in West Virginia to Republicans will raise this majority to nine. This will answer for a beginning. The decision of several contested cases will double the majority later.

A DEMOCRATIC GRAND JURY.

A grand jury of Democrats, packed for the occasion, has been doing justice in Albany county. Before it were brought the rascals who manipulated the election returns in Watervliet last April, when D. Cady Herick, representing Cleveland, and Edward Murphy, representing Hill, contended for success in a Republican district. To make sure of victory Mr. Herick caused the Chief of the Albany police, a Democrat and a plant tool of the Cleveland leader, to swear in a squad of officers as Deputy Sheriffs, and these men went out of the city to commit a felony. They forced their way into the polling place and turned out the Republican Inspectors, clerks and watchers. After this was done they took control of the canvass, and counted in their candidate.

This was a crime that should, under our laws, send every participant to state prison. Confident of the justice of their cause, the Republicans instituted criminal proceedings against them. The evidence of the crime was complete against the Albany officer Cleary and the Democratic Inspectors McMahon and Sullivan. They had returned only 87 votes as cast for Gove, the Republican candidate for Supervisor, and the prosecution produced 207 men who swore that they voted for Gove. The disfranchisement of 190 citizens lawfully entitled to vote may be looked upon as an enormous crime by the people in general, but the Democratic grand jury did not so consider it. Indeed, they regarded it as no crime at all. Yesterday they made their presentment of the case before Justices Nott, Clough and Powers, declaring that they had found no indictment against these men. They were discharged with the thanks of the court, which also appears to be a part of the Herick machine. And the right of the Herick gang to disfranchise anybody and everybody who does not vote at its dictation appears to be established beyond further dispute in Albany county.

What do the people propose to do about it? Simply nothing, for the reason that they can do nothing. They may rise in their wrath and resolve to overthrow the ring by an overwhelming majority, but the Democratic Inspectors will be there, backed by a Democratic police, and the counting of the vote will leave the Democrats on top again. So it will go on from year to year. If the voters of Albany do not yet know how helpless they are, and how utterly impotent is the will of the majority, then they are slow to learn. Reform can only come through the enactment of better election laws for the state. The Saxton ballot bill, which the Governor vetoed, would have made a repetition of this crime impossible. The gubernatorial election of 1891 will probably "remove" Hill, and until that time the people must wait with what patience they can, unless in the meantime they combine to elect a Legislature which shall have the numbers and the courage to pass bills over his vetoes.

PUBLIC OPINION.

A Holyoke woman got frightened by an approaching thunder storm and went over to a neighbor's for company. She was hardly seated before she said she died by lightning. "Might be," said the neighbor, "if it will find you wherever you may hide. If it doesn't want you, you couldn't get struck if you tried."—Buffalo Express.

A young lady of Muskegon, Mich., has just regained her hearing, which she lost 20 years ago. She has missed a great many things which the rest of us have been compelled to listen to, not the least of which were "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "When the Robins Nest Again," "Father's Teachings Are Precious," "White Wings," "Sister Rides a Bicycle Now,"—Chicago Times.

The trouble in Prohibition states is not the lack of supply or the means to get it at, but the feeling of the drinker that he is a sneak and the horrible quality of the poison.—Judge.

Confession may be "good for the soul," but it does not appear to bring the murderers of Cronin to justice.—Union Observer.

And now Private Secretary Halford is attacked because he has secured a position as doorkeeper in the Treasury Department for the palace porter who saved the lives of his wife and children during the Johnstown floods. Sensible men will be apt to conclude that a man who would risk his own life for the sake of women and children would be likely to make a very faithful doorkeeper, and that Mr. Halford did the Treasury Department a good turn.—New York Tribune.

ERASED WITH ACIDS.

How the Governor Vetted Himself—Wanted, a Bicentennial.
[From the Albany Journal.]

Governor Hill appended his signature to the Capitol appropriation bill and the female factory inspector bill, June 15, as announced in the Journal of yesterday. It will thus be seen that the Governor approved of these two measures on what was really the last day permitted him to dispose of bills left in his hands by the legislature. He had nearly a month in which to consider their merits and demerits, and had come to the conclusion that they ought to become laws. His discovery that they were hasty, faulty and ill-considered legislation was made a month ago, when he signed the fifty-ninth minute. It is fortunate for the Governor that Sunday intervened in which he might have time to frame his suddenly inspired objections.

The explanation is really a very simple. The female factory inspector bill would have provided for the proper protection of the female labor in the manufacturing of the state, which is large and growing and is at present subject to glaring impositions and abuses. But female inspectors would attend to their duties and would not be able to control delegates and conventions and work at the polls for D. B. Hill.

It was the Governor's policy of "economy" that led to the slaughter of the capitol bill. He is endeavoring to pile up a surplus in the treasury collected out of the people this year, which will be "reduced," without figuring in next year's tax, provided he can catch enough greengrocers with the economy dodge to secure a Hill majority in the next legislature. For this reason the roof may continue to leak and ruin the interior of the big building. Broken sewer pipes and drains may continue to fill the structure with sewer gas and imperil the health and lives of its occupants; the executive chamber is on the corner of the building where air and sunlight can be admitted.

These are the reasons why the gubernatorial signatures of last Saturday were erased with acids before the bills were filed with the Secretary of State on Monday.

HILL'S ECONOMY.

He Has Put His Individual Judgment Against That of Hundreds of Wiser and Better Men.

[From the Rochester Herald, Ind.]
One of the sufferers from this attack of acute veto mania that recently seized Mr. Hill is the state industrial school of Rochester. The bill referred to above contained an item appropriating $47,000 for asphalt pavement, furniture, electric lights and paint repairs in that institution. All the Governor consented to say in justification of his course in vetoing this appropriation in a lump with several others in similar institutions elsewhere is this:

These several items are objected to and not approved for the reason that it is not deemed expedient to make the proposed expenditures at the present time.

Who is it that deems it inexpedient? Not the boards of managers of the several institutions, who are supposed to know better than anybody at Albany what is needed. Not the two houses of the legislature whose collective wisdom and judgment may be supposed to equal that of any one man in the state government. Not these, for they have severally approved the items. But it is one man, David B. Hill, who thus sets his individual opinion against the aggregate judgment of hundreds of men, any one of whom is his equal in sagacity and his superior in character and public spirit.
